GRAND ARMY OFFICERS

Thomas G. Lawler, of Illinois, Is Elected Commander.

THE CONTEST WAS VERY EXCITING

Major A. P. Burchfield, of Pittsburg, Chosen Senior Vice Commander, and Charles H. Shute, of New Orleans, Junior Vice Commander.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 14.—The homeward rush of Pittsburg's soldier visitors has begun in earnest. Together with their relatives and friends who accompanied them to this city they are leaving town in almost as large numbers as they came in. The railway stations are again continually crowded with bluecoats and extra trains are being pressed into service by the different roads in order to accommodate the returning vterans. The union station shows the extent of the exodus more than any other point in the two cities.

The contest yesterday for commander-in-chief was the closest in the history of the Grand Army. Colonel Thomas Lawler, of Illinois, was elected by a majority of eleven votes.

The others officers elected by the encampment were: Senior vice commander, Major A. P. Burchfield, of Pittsburg; junior vice commander, Charles Shute, New Orleans; surgeon general, O. W. Weeks, Marion, Ohio; chaplain-in-chief, Rev. T. H. Hagerty, St. Louis; representative to council of administration, Charles W Gerwig.

The members of the council of administration are: I. H Duval, West Virginia; Joseph H. Thiabdan, Georgia; O. H. Coulter, Kansas; Charles W. Herdman, Kentucky; G. H. Patrick, Alabama; O. W. Carlson, Wisconsin; H. S. Dietrick, Illinois; Courtland S. Darrow, Connecticut; G. Guthrie Savage, Arizona; W. H. Armstrong, Indiana; Dr. Hugh A. Maghlin, Maryland; Allison M. Stickney, Massachusetts; Samuel H. Brown, New Hampshire.

The women's relief corps elected the following officers without much friction: President, Mrs. Emma R. Wallace, Chicago; senior vice president, Mrs Helen R. Morrison, Smethport, Pa; junior vice president, Mrs. Lizzie R. Herrick, Seattle, Wash.; treasurer, Miss Amelia A. Cheney, Detroit; chaplain, Mrs. Agnes Parker, Massachusetts.

The Daughters of Veterans elected the following national officers: President, Mrs Ellen M. Walker, Worcester, Mass.; senior vice president, Miss Anna Schmid, St. Louis; junior vice president, Miss Gladys Foster, Kansas; chaplain, Miss Levi Stevens, Massillon, O.; treasurer, Mrs Ida J. Allen, Newtonville, Mass.; inspector, Miss Addie Yorke, Somerville, Mass.; musician, no officer, Miss Anna Roberts, Connecticut; Inst., trustees, Anna Moore, New York; Minnie Trescott, Ohio; Nettie King, Ohio; Cora Pike, Massachusetts and R. Evelyn, Monroe, O.

The Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic met and received greetings from the other women's organizations in session here. The report of the national inspector, Mrs. Mary Gordon, of Kansas, showed that the organization has over 20,000 members, and expended $50,000 during the year. The report of the national president was received, embodying some of the minor features of the institution.

Past Commander-in-Chief R. B. Beath installed, with the ceremony of the ritual, the elected officers, and all the G. A. R. flags, records and effects were turned over to the new officials. Commander-in-Chief Lawler here grasped the gavel, but soon the new chaplain-in-chief, Hagerty, came to the foot lights to pronounce the benediction, and the Twenty-eighth encampment was finished. This is the first time an encampment has concluded its business and elected and installed its officers in a sitting of two days.

The resolutions censuring Colonel Ainsworth's conduct of the pension bureau and supporting Judge Long in his contest with the pension commissioner were not adopted.

The new commander-in-chief issued his first orders last night, appointing Comrade C. C. Jones, of Rockford, Ills., adjutant general, and Comrade J. N. Burst, of Syracuse, Ills., quartermaster general, and establishing headquarters at Rockford, Ills.

At the afternoon session of the encampment representatives of the Big Four, and of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad guaranteed a one cent a mile rate for the next encampment. The Pennsylvania has a similar guarantee.

Colonel Thomas G. Lawler, who was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, is an Englishman, having been born in Liverpool on April 7, 1844. He went to Illinois when a child. He enlisted as a private in Company E, Nineteenth Illinois Volunteer infantry, in June, 1861, when only 17 years old, and served three years and three months. He served as private, sergeant, and was elected first lieutenant, but not mustered out. He was postmaster at Rockford under the Hayes, Garfield and Harrison administrations, and is now engaged in the lumber business.

Colonel Lawler was one of the first members of G. L. Nevins Post, No. 1, Department of Illinois, G. A. R., which has a membership of nearly 600. He has been its commander for twenty-six consecutive years. He served for five years as a member of the department council of administration, one year each as junior and senior vice department commander, and was elected by unanimous vote of the encampment to the position of department commander for 1882 his post refusing to accept his resignation as its commander during the year of his service as department commander.

Major A. P. Burchfield, who was elected senior vice commander, was born in Allegheny on Jan 20, 1844. When the One Hundred and Twenty-third regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, was organized, he enlisted as a private in Company E, in 1862, and remained in the service until the regiment was disbanded at Harrisburg in 1863. He is one of its past commanders and past senior vice commander of the department of Pennsylvania, having held this office during 1885. He is a member of the national council of the Grand Army of the Republic, having been elected to succeed General William McClelland, deceased, and is a member of the executive committee of the council.

The new chaplain-in-chief is a member of the famous Lansom post, of St. Louis. When the post was organized by General Sherman he personally urged the divine to act as its chaplain, and he has been the spiritual adviser of the post ever since.

THE AMERICAN PARTY.

A Ticket Nominated in Chicago and a Platform Adopted.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—The Independent American party held a meeting and nominated a ticket and adopted a platform, and formally entered the campaign. Over 500 men and women were present. Professor Walter Simms, general organizer of the American Protective association, read the declaration of principles.

The platform demands the extension of civil service reform to state, city and town officers, and that Americans be made the only tenure of office. On the question of immigration it asks for a five year residence as a qualification for a voter, and also that he must be able to read the constitution of the United States. All trusts are denounced. The money of the government, it says, should be gold, silver and greenbacks, and all should be legal tender, and it asks the establishment of postal savings banks. A tariff for protection is demanded, and that tariff and protection be taken out of politics.

The public schools should be held free from sectarian influence, and United States senators be elected by direct vote of the people. One plank in the platform says if the mayor and county officials are cognizant of gambling and they do not undertake to suppress it that should be cause for impeachment of either or both.

Another series of resolutions, by A. W. Winters, followed, declared for protection of the American constitution, the flag, the public schools, and the complete separation of church. These were also adopted.

Three tickets, state, legislative and county, were nominated. The state officers nominated are: State treasurer, General O. B. Mann, superintendent of public instruction, Samuel D Snow; congressmen, First district, W S McComas; Fifth, Joseph W. P Pickles, Seventh, James R. Strnobel.

Terrible Crime of Negroes.

AKRON, O., Sept. 14.—Three negroes, two men and a woman, called at the house of Saloonist George Woehlmeter and demanded breakfast. Mrs Woehlmeter was alone. Badly frightened, she prepared the meal. Later the men returned to the house, and, going to Mrs. Woehlmeter's room, beat her insensible and assaulted her. She was bound and gagged and thrown into the cellar. Carpets and bed clothing were saturated with oil and the house fired. But for timely discovery of the flames all traces of the crime would have been obliterated. Mrs Woehlmeter's condition is critical.

McKeesport's Centennial.

MCKEESPORT, Pa., Sept. 14.—This city is celebrating its centennial. Governor Pattison and Governor McKinley, of Ohio, with their staffs, participated in yesterday's ceremonies. Great crowds are pouring into the city, to assist in the centennial celebration, which will come to a close today.

THE DEBS CASE ADJOURNED

The Defense Decides to State Their Case on the Evidence Before the Court.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Much to the surprise of everyone the defense announced yesterday afternoon when the last witness for the prosecution had been heard that they would state their case on the evidence before the court. Mr. McGregor said the defense had some witnesses that could modify the testimony, but that the cardinal points would probably not be effected. He said that he and his associates would therefore refrain from putting witnesses in rebuttal on the stand, and would be ready after a reasonable time for the preparation of abstracts.

This was apparently a great surprise to Mr. Walker and his associates who represent the prosecution. However, after some preliminary stipulation as to the preparation of papers, Judge Woods adjourned court until Tuesday, Sept. 25, when the arguments will be heard. Twenty days after that the defense will present its briefs and the whole matter will go to the court.

Counsel for the defense express themselves as confident that the government has not made its case on the testimony produced, and are confident of being able in the end to free Mr. Debs and the other officers and directors of the American Railway union from the contempt charges. On the other hand, counsel for the prosecution are quite as confident of success. It is thought the case may run well into November before it is finally ended.

Forest Fires Still Raging.

BESSEMER, Mich., Sept. 14.—The Gogebec Powder company mill is still in danger. The fire department has been fighting fire steadily for the last twenty-four hours, and is almost exhausted. The fire is fierce, and the wind strong. Trout Creek, Mich., on the south shore, is in imminent danger. Several of the small railroad bridges are burned and the wires are down. At Iron Belt, Wis., on the Wisconsin Central railroad, several buildings are burned. At Wakefield a miner, whose name is unknown, was killed by the intense heat. Four hundred million feet of pine is burned in Gogebec and Ontontagon counties.

Debs Addresses the Convention.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 14.—At the firemen's convention yesterday afternoon Eugene V. Debs had the floor for three hours. He defended his course as secretary and treasurer of the organization, and as editor of the official magazine of the order, and challenged his critics to answer him. The crowd cheered Debs most enthusiastically. The latter was delighted with the reception accorded him, and claims it as a complete vindication of his course as an officer of the brotherhood. By invitation from the delegates, he will address a public meeting tonight, on the causes which led up to the Pullman boycott.

A Candidate for Lynching.

SURRY, Va., Sept. 13.—About a week ago C. L. Brock, a white man about 21 years old, made improper advances toward a young negro girl, aged 10. The girl reported the matter to her aunt, Alice Bates. Brock, hearing that the woman had been discussing the affair with several persons and threatened to have him arrested, went to the woman's house, and finding her in a field, pulled out his pistol and shot her five times, the first shot proving fatal. If caught Brock will probably be lynched.

Murder and Lynching.

NATCHEZ, Miss., Sept. 14.—There was a murder and lynching in the lower portion of Concordia parish. A negro named Bob Williams, employed as a foreman on the Excelsior plantation started after two of the hands on the place who had absconded. He overtook them, and in an altercation that followed Williams shot and killed one of the parties, whose name is not known. Williams was taken by a mob and hanged after being brutally maltreated.

THE CONKLIN MYSTERY

Chicago's Missing Doctor Not Yet Found.

MYSTERIOUS LETTER TO THE WIFE

Dr Kimmell, an Alleged Spiritualist, Gives a Clew to the Disentanglement of the Chain of Mystery Surrounding the Missing Man.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Dr. Kimmell is the name of the author of the mysterious letter written to Mrs Conklin, of Cassopolis, Mich., vouchsafing information which it is claimed will lead to the recovery of her missing husband. When seen at his home in this city Dr Kimmell declined to say anything regarding the alleged clew in his possession. From another source it was given out that spiritualistic force was behind the doctor's alleged knowledge of the mysterious affair, but this the physician did not confirm. Later the doctor became more communicative, and stated that while he could not swear to the fact that Dr Conklin is alive, he is confident that such is the case.

Dr. Kimmell gave out mysterious hints of what might be known of the affair tomorrow, or possibly today. He felt assured, he said, that by that time the mystery would be unraveled. He admitted having mailed another letter to Mrs. Conklin, the contents of which he declined to discuss, but the inference was that it was the second step toward the disentanglement of the chain of mystery surrounding the missing man. Dr. Kimmell has received a number of letters from Mrs. Conklin, one of which he displayed. This was expressive of gratitude for the interest manifested by Dr. Kimmell in the writer.

Sheriff Coulter, of Cass county, called on Dr. Kimmell. The latter said that the official evidently thought that by coming to Chicago he could immediately get possession of the man he sought, and that when he found that there was some work connected with tracking down the case he seemed much disappointed.

PORT MORRIS, N. J., Sept. 14.—A masked burglar entered the house of Mrs Caroline Whitman, an aged woman living near Dorchester, and tortured her with fire in a fruitless effort to make her reveal the supposed hiding place of her money. The burglar struck her over the head with the butt of his pistol. This treatment failing he twisted strips of paper, and lighting them held them under the old woman's feet until she writhed in agony. She was found by her son alive, but in such a condition of agony and terror that her life is despaired of.

Death of the Sultan's Deposed Brother.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 14.—Persistent rumors of the death of ex-Sultan Murad V., who was deposed Aug. 31, 1876, in favor of his younger brother, the present sultan, Abdul Hamid II., are in circulation here. When Murad was deposed he was declared by the council of ministers to be suffering from idiocy. He was born Sept 21, 1840, and was proclaimed sultan on the deposition of his uncle, Sultan Abdul Aziz, May 30, 1876.

A BOY DESPERADO.

He Robs the Home of an Aged Couple and Kills the Husband.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 14.—Bernard Toker, a coke worker, was shot and killed and his wife Mary wounded by Frank Morris, a 16-year-old boy. The deed was committed at Toker's home at Rich Hill, six miles from here, and the motive was robbery. Young Morris has been living with the Tokers for several days, and pretended to be a friend of the old couple.

He came to the house and without warning shot and killed Toker. He then ransacked the house, taking $30 in money and two silver watches. On his way out he encountered Mrs. Toker, and thinking to cover his crime he opened fire on her. Two bullets entered her breast and she fell unconscious to the floor. Morris then fled to the mountains.

A man named Holfill was riding horseback from the scene of the tragedy when he encountered Morris, who ordered him to dismount. Holfill refused, and Morris shot him twice, inflicting serious but not fatal wounds.

Morris is hiding in the mountains near here, and is evidently trying to reach the railroad and make his escape out of the country. County Detective Frank Campbell took a posse out to surround the young desperado. The boy is desperate and a dead shot.

Train Wreckers at Work.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—A daring attempt to wreck a New Jersey Central railroad train was made at the foot of Chapel avenue in the Greenville section of Jersey City. The train wreckers placed two large stones on the west bound track. A handcar on which were six laborers in the employ of the road came along and struck the stones with a smash and was thrown from the tracks. The six men were hurled in all directions. All escaped with slight bruises except Thomas Kenny, aged 45 years, of Jersey City. He received serious wounds on the head, arms and hands. Several men have been arrested.

A Serious Riot in India.

BOMBAY, Sept. 14.—A serious riot occurred near the Daravala bridge, Poonah City. Some Mahommedans who were listening to the reading of the Koran in a mosque near the bridge objected to the music of a procession of Hindoos. The latter, however, persisted, and the Mahommedans raised a war cry. A fight, lasting three hours, followed, during which it was estimated that about 4,000 people, mostly Hindoos, ponred to the scene in order to take part in the conflict. The mosque was sacked and an attempt was made to destroy it by fire. During the fight one man was killed and many were more or less severely injured.

Father and Son Shot.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 14.—Wayne county was the scene of another shooting affray, in which a father and son were mortally wounded. Hiram Stephens, a merchant of Centreville, had some trouble with John Murphy, a neighbor, several days ago, and as Murphy was passing Stephens' store the trouble was renewed. Both men opened fire, Stephens receiving a baller in the abdomen. His 16-year-old son rushed to the rescue, only to be pierced by a bullet in the right side. Murphy is under arrest.

Firebugs at Work in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—An attempt was made early yesterday to fire the tenement house at 98 Norfolk street, in which 100 people were sleeping. A policeman saw thick black smoke pouring from the building and the fire was put out. It was discovered that the cellar of the building had been sprinkled with kerosene and then fired. This is the latest of a number of similar fires which have occurred in east side tenements during the summer.

OBDURATE ZELAYA.

The Nicaraguan President's Treatment of Foreigners.

MINISTER BAKER CALLS A HALT.

Exiled Prisoners Must be Given a Fair Trial on Specific Charges or Marines May be Landed to Bring About an Honest Verdict.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—The Associated Press correspondent in Bluefields, under date of Sept. 7, describes the manner in which fourteen foreigners taken prisoners at Bluefields were treated in Managua. They were tried at once by President Zelaya. After a brief conference the prisoners were ordered to pack up and prepare for a journey. Eight were sent to Corriento, on the Pacific coast, where they remained until Aug. 29, when a south bound Pacific steamer carried them to Punta Renas, Costa Rica. The four remaining prisoners will be sent to the four principal cities of Nicaragua, where they will suffer for perhaps months.

Minister Baker was informed of the arrival of the American prisoners, and immediately called upon them. He lamented the course adopted by Captain Sumner in not intercepting the Yulu and releasing the prisoners. Minister Baker prepared a most vigorous protest and had it delivered at once to President Zelaya. He called attention to the unconstitutional and illegal proceedings, and demanded, in the name of the United States, a fair and speedy trial. To this protest President Zelaya sent a reply, but not until the prisoners were fairly on their way to Corriento.

The protest of Minister Baker was handed President Zelaya on the evening of the day the prisoners arrived, and for some reason known to himself only, President Zelaya delayed sending the reply until the following afternoon, and it was irrelevant in every sense of the word. In consequence of the protest of Minister Baker, as has often taken place, the Nicaraguan government cabled to Washington demanding the immediate recall of Minister Baker, because he had attempted to defend the subjects of his country.

When Minister Baker received the discourteous reply to his protest, he cabled to Washington and also told of the exile of the prisoners. In reply to his cable, it is stated, the home government at Washington instructed him to demand that the two Americans be sent back or be allowed to go to Bluefields immediately and there should be given a fair trial upon specific charges.

President Zelaya was at once informed of the demand of the United States, and it is said he agreed to a trial. After reaching Punta Renas, the Americans will travel to San Jose and thence to Port Limon. Here they will be met by the Columbia or the Marblehead, and brought back to Bluefields. It was believed in Managua that the Columbia was still in Port Limon, and for that reason Minister Baker sent an important dispatch to that port, supposed to contain a copy of the instructions sent to Minister Baker in regard to the return of the Americans to Bluefields, and also instructions to Captain Sumner to see that a fair trial is given, if he is compelled to land marines to bring about an honest verdict.

The position of the English is not altogether clear as yet, but it is safe to say they will take a hot rebuke stand for the insult offered Consul Hatch. Minister Goslin is at present in Guatemala, and upon hearing of the arrests telegraphed a protest to President Zelaya. In return he received a reply much on the order of the one Minister Baker received.

To-morrow at 10 o'clock voting for members of the municipal council and chief magistrate will be held and the successful candidates will at once take possession of the government. Who the candidates for office are, and in fact, from all appearances, the election will mean nothing more than an appointment by Madriz. As soon as the newly elected officers have been formally installed, and the affairs of Bluefields in a measure settled, Minister Madriz will return to the interior. His services are much needed in Managua, for the entire interior of Nicaragua is thoroughly aroused and war is daily expected.

Wire Tappers Invent a New Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—A new scheme of wire tappers was discovered here through the vigilance of Western Union officials. The company discovered that a connection had been made with its wires on the Long bridge. A thin wire ran down from a pole on the outside of the bridge and was brought just under the bridge flooring and was there caught by a brass piece with a spring attachment. Inserted into this brass piece was a cable wire securely held by the spring. The men found that it led to a sailboat 100 yards out in the river, the two occupants of which being thus warned, hastily cut it and escaped.

HELPFUL YOUNG MEN

APPROACHING CONVENTION OF THE BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW.

It Will Be Held In Washington In October—Something About the Origin and Growth of the Society—Its Work and Aims.

The present may very properly be termed an age of societies. Whoso has an object, grave or gay, important or of little moment, to accomplish straightway forms a club or a brotherhood or a society, and if the reason for the organization have any vitality at all the thing sought to be accomplished is already as good as done.

The convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew that is to be held in Washington next October, beginning on the 11th and lasting four days, will be a gathering of one of the most important societies, looked at from a religious standpoint, now in existence. The brotherhood was formed 11 years ago. Its founders were young men, all members of the Bible class attached to the Sunday school of one of the Episcopal churches in Chicago. Their teacher, a banker of the town, was a young man, too, and they often talked of and lamented the fact that more young men did not feel called upon to live active Christian lives—to take part in the work of the church and the promotion of good habits and upright life among their fellows. One day some member of the class suggested that a society of Christian young men be formed for the doing of Christian work among young men. The idea pleased, and the society came into being, its name being chosen not in honor of Scotland's tutelary saint, but because the original idea of the organization was suggested by the following passage of Scripture:

"One of the two which heard John speak and followed him was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother. He first findeth his own brother, Simon, and saith unto him, We have found the Messias. * * * And he brought him to Jesus."—John i, 40, 41.

The new brotherhood was organized very carefully and with due regard to the performance of effective work. Its members, though all at first from the one Bible class and of the Episcopal faith, were of various walks in life—physicians, lawyers, clerks, merchants, mechanics—but all young and earnest. They adopted a badge and set about their self appointed task with a will.

Mindful of the mandate, "Forget not the assembling of yourselves together," they sought to impress the necessity of church attendance upon all with whom they came in contact, confining their efforts to the winning of young men. One brotherhood man who had a friend in view went so far as to change a pleasant for an unpleasant boarding house so that he might be near the object of his solicitous care. It is stated that the young man was won.

It was not long before the pews of the parish church that was headquarters of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew began to fill with young men, whereas they had before been conspicuous mainly because of their absence. Then the news of the new departure began to spread, and presently inquiries were made by devout young men of other parishes looking to the establishment therein of similar brotherhoods. So the brotherhood grew and multiplied, and in 1886 there were enough brotherhoods to make it worth while to hold a convention. It was not a large gathering, but it was a fervent one, and its plain talks, straight from the heart, detailing experiences of brotherhood men in their work among their fellows, were of great value in strengthening and enlightening those who were present. When it was over, they went out fortified in their determination not to "count all men brethren," but for each to "count every man his brother." Conventions since that time have been held in New York, Cleveland, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston and Detroit in the order named. The attendance at these gatherings has been quite a thousand in number for two or three years now, and it is expected that it will be still larger at Washington. It will include a large delegation from Canada, for the brotherhood was heard of there some time ago and has made for itself a foothold in 119 parishes, with over 2,000 members.

In Scotland the society flourishes, a concordat having been signed between the order there and here, and the same is true as regards Australia, while overtures have been made by distinguished English prelates for the purpose of effecting an organization in England of a brotherhood along the lines laid down by the parent American society.

The officers are: President of the general council, James L. Houghteling of Chicago, who has held the post by unanimous voice of the brotherhood since 1888; first vice president, G. Harry Davis of Philadelphia; second vice president, Silas MacBee of Sewanee, Tenn.; general secretary, John W. Wood of New York; treasurer, John P. Faure of New York.

What to do with Milk Pails!

Clean them with Pearline. You can't get them so thoroughly sweet and pure in any other way. Besides, it's easier for you—quicker, more economical.

"The box and barrel churn are not hard to keep clean. A little hot water and a little Pearline will clean any churn or do away with any bad odor."—The Daily World, Chicago.

Perhaps you don't think that some of the imitations of Pearline, that you'd be afraid to use in washing clothes, would do just as well in work like this. They wouldn't hurt tinware, certainly. But they wouldn't clean it, either, half as well as Pearline—besides, "don't play with the fire." If your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 490 JAMES PYLE, New York.

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess,

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

THE AUTHOR OF "FATE."

Many Have Claimed It, but Susan Marr Spaulding Wrote the Poem.

A little poem called "Fate" has been widely copied, commented upon and claimed by scores of aspiring poets willing to claim anything meritorious that seemed of unknown authorship, whether they actually wrote it or not. It has at last been decided that the true author is Mrs. Susan Marr Spaulding. The poem originally appeared in print in the New York Daily Graphic in 1876. Mrs. Spaulding still has in her possession a note from Editor Croffut accepting the poem, complimenting it in the highest terms and regretting that The Graphic could not pay for poetry, no matter how meritorious. This letter has proved Mrs. Spaulding's claim and has confounded many an impostor. The words of "Fate" follow:

MRS. SPAULDING.

Two shall be born the whole wide world apart
And speak in different tongues and have no thought
Each of the other's being, and no heed.
And these o'er unknown seas to unknown lands
Shall cross, escaping wreck, defying death,
And, all unconsciously, shape every act
And bend each wandering step to this one end—
That one day out of darkness they shall meet
And read life's meaning in each other's eyes.

And two shall walk some narrow way of life
So nearly side by side that, should one turn
Ever so little space to right or left,
They needs must stand acknowledged face to face.
And yet, with wistful eyes that never meet,
With groping hands that never clasp and lips
Calling in vain to ears that never hear,
They seek each other all their weary days
And die unsatisfied, and that is fate!

Mrs. Spaulding was born in Bath, Me., and received her education there. She was married while very young, and her wedded life was exceedingly happy, but death soon robbed her of her husband. She is described as a charming woman, with rare conversational powers and a vast fund of entertaining information. She has written considerable poetry besides "Fate," and her sonnets have been particularly admired by discriminating critics. Her best known poem is the only blank verse that has ever come from her pen.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CAMPAIGN.

Men Who Direct Operations at the National Headquarters In Washington.

These are busy times at the Republican and Democratic headquarters of the congressional campaign committees in Washington. Tons of copies of public documents, extracts from speeches and party arguments are being sent all over the United States, particular attention being paid, of course, to doubtful congressional districts. Every such district is very carefully studied, and such arguments are brought to bear upon the voters as seem apt to be particularly effective, owing to the pursuits and character of the inhabitants. Campaign speakers are also sent out in much the same manner, tariff experts being dispatched to manufacturing and agricultural districts and soldier orators to districts where there are many voters who are war veterans. The subject is made the most careful study, and every wire is pulled that will aid one party or another to secure control of the coming house of representatives.

The Republican headquarters are at 210 Delaware avenue, near the capitol, and the campaign is being conducted by Joseph W. Babcock, congressman from the Third Wisconsin district and chairman of the national Republican congressional campaign committee. Mr. Babcock was born in Vermont March 6, 1850, and with his parents removed to Iowa in 1856, where he received a common school education. He settled in Needah in 1881, since when he has made a fortune in the lumber business. In 1888 he was elected to the Wisconsin assembly and was re-elected in 1890. He was sent to congress by a large majority and seems well qualified for the difficult political work he is now performing.

Charles J. Faulkner, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, has his headquarters on Fourteenth street, N. W., near Newspaper row. He is one of the United States senators representing West Virginia and is a native of the state. Martinsburg was his birthplace, and his age is 47 years. He is a son of Charles J. Faulkner, United States minister to France in 1859, and was educated in Paris and Switzerland. He returned to this country in 1861 and entered the Virginia Military institute when but 15 years of age. He served with the cadets in the battle of New Market and was aid to General J. C. Breckinridge and General Henry A. Wise, surrendering with the latter at Appomattox. He is a lawyer, an ex-judge, a prominent Mason and a senator of seven years' experience. He was recently married for the second time to Miss Virginia Whiting, a pretty Virginia belle of 25 summers.

Mr. Yates' Jugular Vein.

The will of the late Mr. Edmund Hodson Yates has been proved, the gross value of the personal estate being estimated at £31,719 11s. 2d. In his will Mr. Yates desired that immediately after his death his jugular vein should be opened by his medical attendant or some other surgeon and that a fee of 20 guineas should be paid for the operation.

A LOAD of misery is taken from women, by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Weaknesses that distress your womanhood can be relieved and cured by it, safely and certainly. It has done this for thousands of suffering women—and the makers are willing to guarantee, if it doesn't benefit or cure you, they'll return the money.

Bearing-down pains, internal inflammation and ulceration, organic displacements, weak back, and all kindred ailments are cured by the "Favorite Prescription."

Nye, Putnam Co., W. Va.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—Mine is a case of eleven years' standing, which baffled the skill of the best medical aid procurable. I obtained no good effect, until I began the use of the "Favorite Prescription," which lifted the burden which was seeking my life.

My gratitude I owe to the "Prescription." I hope that all suffer[illegible] (as in my case) may profit by the result of my experience.

Their failure to do so made it possible for some of the Republicans of the town to obtain definite knowledge that about fifty prominent Republicans voted for Watson, the Democratic candidate for Supervisor, and has made much trouble in the town. The failure to destroy the ballots was due to ignorance of the law's requirements.

—William Hush, of Livingston Manor, while at work, Saturday, taking down an old barn, was knocked from a beam on which he was standing by a piece of a rotten rafter which hit him over the eye. He fell to the ground, a distance of twelve feet, striking squarely on his back. Dr. Lathrop found that his back bone was broken, the two parts protruding outward so that the dislocation could be plainly seen and felt. The doctor made the patient as comfortable as possible and he was placed on the bottom of a wagon to be taken to his home about a mile east of the village. A sudden jolt of the wagon, on the old Morsston bridge, caused Mr. Hush to cry out with pain, and after that he suffered little discomfort, and when his home was reached it was found that the jolt had caused the dislocated vertebræ to slip back into place. The spinal cord was very slightly injured for there is very little local paralysis, and Mr. Hush's complete recovery is confidently expected.

DO YOU WISH A GOOD HINT?

"We must eat to live.

The health of the body and life itself depend entirely on a suitable diet. When people do not get enough food or live on an improper diet, sickness is the inevitable result. Proper nourishment is the secret of health and strength. The great question of health is, therefore, what is a proper diet?

This question might be answered in three different ways and yet each answer would be correct. In the tropics, it would be right to say that the proper diet for mankind is almost entirely vegetarian that is, fruits, vegetables and grains. But in America, which lies in the great temperate zone, a mixed diet is found to be the best. The healthiest people, in this country, live on meat foods, vegetables and grains in suitable proportions. Such a diet is founded on reason and it ought to be healthy.

Theory and practice, however, do not always agree. There are thousands of people who eat plenty of good food and yet remain weak, unnaturally thin, pale and continually complaining of tired feelings. Their great trouble is that while they eat suitable food they do not get sufficient nourishment. They do not digest their food properly. So they keep thin and keep getting thinner. Lack of nourishment soon wears them out.

It was formerly the custom to advise such people to take oils and fats, but persons with weak stomachs can no more digest cod-liver oil than they can digest fat pork. The effect of either is to make them dyspeptic and bilious. And that is why advanced physicians now refuse to prescribe cod-liver oil. Medicated wines and so called "bitters" are equally useless. They only inflame the lining of the stomach and give no nourishment.

The recognition of these great principles of diet and nourishment has led to one of the most brilliant discoveries of the present age. It has completely revolutionized the treatment of dyspepsia and emaciation. Instead of trying to cure indigestion with medicines and oily mixtures, people are now finding out that the only way to get relief is by obtaining sufficient nourishment, and that this nourishment is speedily gained by taking Paskola, the artificially digested food. This great discovery has caused a dicided sensation for some time past, and the fact that Paskola is becoming so wonderfully popular is the best proof that it has merit.

Any up-to-date druggist will furnish Paskola. If you want to know how it works, send for free pamphlet to the Pre-digested Food Co., 30 Reade St., New York.

SAVED A LITTLE GIRL'S LIFE.

Harvard Student Rescues a Child From Death by an Electric Car in Cambridge.

A signal instance of courage and quickness of thought, which undoubtedly saved the life of a little child, occurred in Cambridge on Friday evening.

Shortly before 7 p. m. a Tremont House electric car was passing along Main street at a very rapid rate. Near Windsor street a little girl, apparently about 3 years of age, ran from the sidewalk toward the track. The motorman quickly shut off the current and put on the brake. Then the child paused, and the motorman released the car.

Just as the car had regained its momentum the child, through some strange impulse, darted forward to cross the track. The motorman was almost breathless with horror. There was no time to stop the car, and the toddling infant seemed doomed.

Suddenly a tall, athletic young man sprang from his seat at the end of the front row, and grasping the curved handle on the dasher of the car with his right hand swung himself out on the fender. Just as the car was about to crush the little girl under its wheels he seized her firmly by the waist.

It was a trying moment to the nerves of the passengers and motorman. It seemed for an instant as if both man and child would fall in front of the fender. But by an almost convulsive effort the rescuer lifted the little girl from the track and laid her on her back at one side out of the reach of the wheels.

So great was the strain upon him that as soon as the child was released he himself fell forward on the fender, and only an unusual degree of agility enabled him to scramble up on his knees and back to his seat in the car.

The whole thing was done in an instant. The motorman, pale with fright, was only able to look his thanks.

The hero of the affair was the most composed person on the car. He at once sought a rear seat to avoid attention, merely remarking to the motorman as he passed: "Gad! Why don't you get out of this?"

A passenger said that the young man was a Harvard student who resides on Sacramento street, Cambridge.—Boston Herald.

Because you are sick, and want to get well, of course.

Then remember, that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

All we ask is, that in taking Hood's Sarsaparilla you will do so with perseverance equaling or approaching the tenacity with which your complaint has clung to you. It takes time and care to eradicate old and deepseated maladies, particularly when they have been so long hidden in the system that they have become chronic. Remember, that all permanent and positive cures and brought about with reasonable moderation. Hood's Sarsaparilla attacks disease vigorously and never leaves the field until it has conquered.

Messrs. Hirschberg and Wiggins, of this district, were two of the six Republicans who voted against the judiciary article adopted by the Constitutional Convention, yesterday.

If Senator Murphy adheres to his determination to retire from the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee, his successor will undoubtedly by Major Hinckley, of Poughkeepsie. No better choice could be made, for Major Hinckley is a veteran campaigner and skillful organizer, and one of the hardest workers in the field of politics.

At Cohoes, N. Y., the centre of the knit goods industry, many mills are running night and day and, on Monday, one of the largest mills restored wages to the figures paid before last year's depression set in. Other mills are expected to soon follow with higher wages. Increased wages are also reported from many industrial centres,—proof conclusive that tariff reform does not mean lower wages for American workingmen.

All independent estimates of the crops are much higher than the government. The Cincinnati Price Current, an authority in the trade, estimates the yield of corn at 1,400,000,000, or possibly 1,500,000,000 bushels, and the Prairie Farmer makes it at 1,460,000,000. The government report indicated only 1,100,000,000. The same journal estimates the wheat crop at 500,000,000, which is twenty five per cent. more than the government's figures would make it. In view of past underestimates by the government, the commercial statisticians are by many persons regarded as more trustworthy.

A New York Republican paper has been trying to arrange a tariff discussion between Gov. Flower and Roswell G Horr, of Michigan. The Governor declines, however, to have anything to do with the scheme and gives as his reasons that the business interests of the country want peace, not agitation, for, while the tariff bill may not be perfect, the good effects of its enactment are already perceptible, mills long idle are reopening, the unemployed are securing work every where and the signs of business improvement are certain The Governor says further that the people are disposed to give the law a fair trial and that "nobody except extreme theorists and politicians wish to prevent its success and continue business depression by 'calamity howling'" and does not hesitate to say that the man or newspaper that would check or retard the movement towards business prosperity is a public enemy.

The Human Remains Found on the Dump to Be Buried.

The human legs and arm found on the Harding street dump will be buried by the police.

Dr Everett, from the attic of whose building on Franklin Square the bones and rubbish were taken, says that he remembers the arm as one that he amputated from Charles Clark, who was injured in a Fourth of July celebration in the forties and preserved for a time in alcohol As to the legs he knows nothing. Their appearance indicates that they have been dissected by a medical student who was tracing the courses of the nerves.

THE WESTERN CORN CROP.

Stories of Its Failure Greatly Exaggerated—Its Real Condition Told by a Pratical Farmer of Iowa.

Mr Wm. P. Crawford, of Muscatine, Iowa, arrived in this city, yesterday afternoon, greatly surprising his relatives and friends as he came altogether unheralded. Mr. Crawford came direct from his home, where he has made farming a business for more than forty years, qualifying him, therefore, for an intelligent judgment on crop results and crop prospects in his State.

The oat crop, harvested and threshed, is, he says, one of the best Iowa has ever produced. Corn will, however, be a short crop, one of the shortest the State has ever known; nevertheless, Mr. Crawford's report as to the condition of Iowa's growing corn is by no means as dismal as it has been pictured in the interest of grain gamblers and Wall street bears on railroad securities.

There is, he says, some good corn in Iowa, a considerable area that will turn out two-thirds of a crop and a still larger area that will produce but half a crop. As to the stories about all the corn in the State having been cut and schocked for fodder, they were put in circulation to serve the ends of speculators, as in Central, Southeastern and Eastern Iowa only in extremely sandy patches, here and there, is this a fact. In such soils it is only in very wet seasons that corn thrives.

A SENSATION IN DECKERTOWN

Benjamin Whitaker Deserts His Wife for a Grass Widow at Hamburg.

The village of Deckertown has a bit of a sensation, in which Benjamin Whitaker, a carpet weaver, formerly of Newburgh, and a grass widow of Hamburg are the principals.

About three weeks ago Mrs. Whitaker went to Staten Island to visit her sister. When she returned Monday her husband was gone and so were some of the best of the household effects and the best loom in the shop.

On the table Mrs. Whitaker found a note from her husband, in which he said he thought it best for them to separate for a while, and advising her to have an auction and sell off such things as she would not need.

Mrs. Whitaker by a little detective work found the goods taken away by Whitaker stored in a farm house near Hamburg and had them returned to her house.

It is said by the neighbors that during Mrs. Whitaker's absence another woman filled her place at home. Simultaneously with Whitaker's disappearance a grass widow of Hamburg left, and it is believed they have gone together.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.

A Newburgher Charged with Appropriating His Employer's Money Arrested in This City.

A police officer came here from Newburgh, yesterday, and with the assistance of Officer Wilson arrested a young man who, under the name of Henry Cole, has been employed in the grocery store of John T. Robertson for the past two weeks.

The officer stated that the young man's name was Michael H. Cole, and that the warrant for his arrest was sworn out by the manager of a Newburgh tea store, in which Cole had been employed, and charged him with appropriating eleven dollars of the company's money.

Cole left Newburgh about two months ago and came to this city, where he was employed for a time at the State Hospital, but was discharged, and then found employment with Mr. Robertson.

The police of Newburgh finally traced him to this city, and with the assistance of Officer Wilson located him yesterday.

Cole was taken to Newburgh on train 30.

A CONUNDRUM PARTY.

Mesdames Clemson and Taylor Entertain About One Hundred of Their Lady Friends—The Conundrums and Answers.

A conundrum party and tea was given by Mrs. Geo. M. Clemson and Mrs. W. W. Taylor, at the home of the former on Highland avenue, from 5 to 7, last evening. About one hundred ladies were present.

The ladies were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Richard D. Clemson, Mrs. Edward Tompkins, Mrs. Woodrough and Mrs. Lillian Clemson Bird of Boston.

Tea was served by Misses Grace Crane, Fannie M. Corwin, Eleanore B. Royce, Bessie Rogers and Lena M. Hinchman.

Fifteen conundrums had been prepared and printed upon cards with space for the answers to be written. Miss Black, we believe, was the only lady who gave correct answers to all of them.

The conundrums with the answers were as follows:

Why is a hen immortal? A.—Because its sun never sets.

Why is the letter "A" like a honey suckle? A.—Because "B" follows it.

Who was the first man mentioned in the Bible? A.—Chap. 1.

Why is it dangerous to take a nap on a train? A.—Because trains run over sleepers.

What is that which is put on the table, cut, but never eaten? A.—Cards.

What should a minister preach about? A.—Half an hour.

Why is a baker a most improvident person? A.—Because he sells what he kneads.

Which travels faster, heat or cold? A.—Heat, because it's easy to catch cold.

What is the smallest bridge in the world? H.—Bridge of your nose.

Why does an oyster stew resemble the Fourth of July? A.—Because it is filled with crackers.

What was the first ship invented? A.—Courtship.

When is a door not a door? A.—When its ajar.

If a white stone was thrown into the Red Sea, what would it become? A.—A w(h)etstone.

Of what trade is the sun? A.—A tanner.

What grows the less tired the more it works? A.—A wheel.

SULLIVAN COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

The Couch and Thornton Factions Do Battle and Couch Goes Under—The County Ticket—Horton Delegates to the State Convention.

The Couch and Thornton factions in the Republican party met in battle royal at the County Convention in Monticello, yesterday, and the Thorntonites carried the day, nominating their candidates for Member of Assembly and Sheriff by good majorities.

Henry Krenrich, of Jeffersonville, Thornton's man, was nominated for Member of Assembly on the second ballot over Reuben R. Jelliff, of Woodbourne, a good man, to whom the only objection that could be urged was that he was a friend of Couch.

The most highly polished and interesting fight was over the nomination of Sheriff. John R. Rice, a pet henchman of Boss Couch, was defeated by eight votes, John Murphy, a Liberty hotel keeper, receiving the nomination. Ezra F. Calkins, of Barryville, was nominated for Superintendent of the Poor without opposition.

A lively canvass was made for delegates to the State Convention, the Couch faction coming out victors. U. S. Messiter, of Liberty; Matthew Decker, of Willowemoc; A. P. DuBois, of Livingston Manor; Martin A. Smith, of Fremont Centre, and Merceine Skinner, of Wurtsboro, were the five delegates chosen. While the convention did not instruct the delegates, it is a foregone conclusion that they are for Levi P. Morton.

Meeting of the Democratic City Committee.

A meeting of the Democratic City Committee will be held at the ARGUS office at 7.30 o'clock, this evening. A full attendance is desired.

WOULD NOT SUPPORT HIS WIFE.

Lyman Freer "Would Be ——" Before He Did, and Has Gone to Jail to Think it Over.

Lyman Freer, who formerly conducted a saloon on West Main street, this city, was arrested, yesterday, at Gardiner, Ulster county, by Officer Sharpe, who went after him, armed with a warrant issued on complaint of his wife, who charged him with non-support.

Freer was brought to this city and was given a hearing before the Recorder, last evening. He refused to support the woman and told the Recorder that he "would be ——— if he'd support her." He was given six months in Goshen jail to think the matter over.

Some of the most exciting and sensational scenes in the production of "Daughter of Dixie."

Asleep on the Erie Track.

Mr. C. B. Warner, the James street fruit merchant, while coming up the Erie track early Wednesday morning, on his way to take an Erie train for New York, discovered a drunken man lying alseep on the tracks near the silk mills. His head and arms rested upon the rails. Mr. Warner after considerable difficulty managed to awaken the fellow and start him off towards his home.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 105 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

A NIHILIST PLOT.

Truth About the Accident to the Grand Duchess Xenia of Russia.

There is great excitement in imperial circles at St. Petersburg, according to trustworthy information, because of the accident to the Grand Duke Michaelovitch and the Grand Duchess Xenia, the daughter of the czar, on the evening of their marriage a few weeks ago. The telegraphic dispatches which were sent from Russia at the time declared that on the way from Peterhof palace, where the wedding was celebrated, to the castle of Prosha, where the honeymoon was to be passed, the coachman's eyes had been blinded by the bright calcium lights, the carriage had been overturned and the occupants severely bruised.

But this report, it now appears, was highly colored by order of the imperial censor, who wields such autocratic power over the press and telegraph offices in Russia. The truth appears to be that the accident was the result of a nihilistic conspiracy to murder the young pair.

On the way to the castle the newly wedded couple had to cross a bridge spanning a dangerous cut. The bridge had been tampered with by the conspirators, so that when the imperial carriage rushed over it the timbers gave way, and the carriage and occupants fell to the bottom. The coachman was so badly wounded that he died before he could be removed to a hospital. The grand duchess was badly bruised about the head and body and had her right arm broken. It is also feared that she was injured internally. Her young husband had also severe cuts about the head.

The excitement, of course, was intense in the city when the truth became known, despite the efforts to suppress it and to spread the news that it was an accident.

Many reasons are assigned as the motive for the attempt to kill the favorite daughter of his majesty. It had been expected, some say, that the czar, in honor of the wedding, would pardon a number of political prisoners. When it became known that these hopes were not to be realized, the nihilists determined to revenge themselves in a way which would hit the ruler hardest—the death of his daughter. They almost accomplished their purpose. The czar and other members of the family fear that the wretches, maddened by the partial failure of their plans, may try some other way of seeking revenge. The police for this reason have orders to be unusually vigilant.—New York Tribune.

NEW FOUND WEALTH.

Over $2,000 Discovered In an Old German Family Bible.

James Pateman is a wholesale dealer in potatoes who lives on Federal street, Camden. His wife's maiden name was Oberstal, and her mother sold fruit and vegetables for 50 years under the old Market street sheds. She died in 1879, and her daughter was surprised to find how small her savings were, although she had been a very thrifty woman. It was believed, however, that she had given her money to a frolicking spendthrift son, and the matter was forgotten.

Two weeks ago a relative called on Mrs. Pateman to ask what had become of the mother's German Bible, saying that it contained the family births and deaths and should be looked up. Mrs. Pateman, after some reflection, remembered that an old trunk contained some of her mother's clothing and at once made a search therein. The Bible was found—a huge folio, 18 inches square—and it contained much besides good precepts, for between the leaves nestled a 5-20 United States bond for $500, with all the coupons attached, and $750 in legal tender notes. Further search brought to light a nest of gold and notes in a battered old tin tea caddy. Some of the eagles are dated 1820, and there are over $50 in $1 pieces.

In all the treasure trove is about $2,100. Mrs. Pateman already wishes she had never seen the money, as about 20 nephews and nieces are going to law for a share of it.—Philadelphia Times.

A Soft Thing In the Crab Line.

Just think of a soft shell crab weighing 24 ounces and measuring 21½ inches from tip to tip of the extended claws. Such a crab was received by Mr. S. R. Scoggins yesterday, with two crates of other soft crabs, shipped from Deal's island, Maryland, by Mr. W. J. Webster.

In a letter which accompanied the shipment Mr. Webster wrote that it was the largest soft shell crab he had ever seen or heard of. Mr. Scoggins, who has been in the fish business over 50 years, said he had never seen one which even approached in size this giant soft crab. He sent the crab by express to the Smithsonian institute at Washington for permanent preservation.

Th soft shell crab varies in size from two inches to the size of the gaint crab sent to Mr. Scoggins. The "count" crab, which is considered full size, measures 9 inches from tip to tip, is 5½ inches long on the shell and 2½ inches across the back.—Baltimore Sun.

Twenty Years After.

Twenty years ago Daniel Wynkoop caught a turtle in Mud creek, a little stream two miles south of this city, and after cutting his name on its back, with "1874" attached, put it back in the water. Yesterday afternoon Wynkoop tried his luck at fishing in the same creek. Of a sudden he thought he must have hooked a shark, but after a hard pull finally landed the biggest turtle he ever saw. On looking it over he was astonished to find on its shell very legible the handiwork he executed when a boy.—Lockport (N. Y.) Dispatch.

INDIA'S SACRED MONKEY TEMPLE.

An Edifice Where Long Tailed Quadrupeds Live Free From Interference.

Among the thousand or more temples and shrines with which the holy Hindoo city of Benares is endowed, visitors generally find the great temple dedicated to the worship of the goddess Durga one of the most interesting. It is known to Europeans as the monkey temple, because in and around its precincts many hundreds of sacred monkeys roam about without interference. The temple is situated in the southern extremity of the city. It was erected during the last century by the Ranee Bhawani of Natre, in honor of Siva's wife, the terrific goddess who is supposed to delight in death and slaughter, and of whom the poor believers in the various attributes of the deities comprising the Hindoo pantheon stand in the greatest dread. A correspondent of the London Graphic writes as follows regarding the place:

"The Durga Kund is conspicuous in this city of temples for the grace and simplicity of its architecture. It adjoins a tank which is the finest in Benares and occupies the central portion of a quadrangle, the walls being stained red with ocher. The sacred portion of the temple consists of 12 finely carved pillars standing on a marble platform and supporting a heavy roof. The platform is about four feet from the ground and is ascended by a flight of low steps on each side of the square. The temple is well provided with the necessary instruments for creating the frightful noises which emanate from these abodes of idolatry all over India. Drums of huge dimensions, gongs, bells and tomtoms are all at the service of the priests in performing the rites required of them. But the antics of the monkeys which make this temple their home are, next to its architecture, the most attractive feature of the place.

"The goat's blood with which the walls are sprinkled and the sacrifices that are known to take place here to appease the wrath of Siva and his terrifying spouse are rather revolting to a Christian, but the grotesque play of the monkeys, their importunate begging, the pranks they enact on one another and the graceful agility they are constantly displaying supply a perpetual source of amusement which one is apt to think must prove rather distracting to the devout Hindoos who come here to worship. These sacred monkeys are of the genus Semnopethecus entellus, popularly known as the long tailed Indian monkey.

"A few years ago, as no one dared to molest these animals, they not only increased rapidly in numbers, but, growing to be extraordinarily bold, developed alarming thieving propensities. The annoyance they caused amounted to a public nuisance, for no house in the place was safe from their depredations. At last the trouble grew so serious that some reduction in the number of these adept thieves became a necessity, although the prejudices of the people were against any such steps being taken. In the end the government was requested to interfere, and waiving aside all other considerations but that of public polity the authorities had many hundreds—report says many thousands—captured and sent away. Nevertheless there are plenty of them left, and they certainly constitute one of the sights of a city that is probably in many respects the most interesting in the world.'

To Be Called Elijah.

Children have been admirably drilled in Bible detail. They know more about it than three-fourths of their Sunday school teachers. They have learned the story of Moses till they can say it as pat as the multiplication table. But I do not find any living interest in Moses. There is one of the grandest life stories in history, and they seem to have no feeling about it. And that need not be so.

I remember one of my Sunday school teachers in Chicago telling me how troubled she had been because she was afraid she was not making the stories of the prophets interesting to her boys. But one day she was comforted, for she heard from the mother of one of them that the lad had come home the Sunday before, and after sitting silent awhile suddenly burst out at the dinner table:

"Well, I do think Elijah was a fine fellow, and if I ever have a kid of my own I mean to call him Elijah!"

Of course it is only a rare teacher who can teach that way.—Brook Hereford in Contemporary Review.

Code of Colors In Sealing Wax.

Dainty French people have never displaced sealing wax with the gummed envelope, and in the haute monde of France there is a certain symbolism in the choice of colors. Blue denotes constancy; yellow, jealousy. Pink is appropriately used by young girls, and gray is employed when writing to an intimate friend. Red is confined to business, and engaged lovers find ruby symbolical of the intensity of their emotions. Green is for letters from lovers who live in hope, and dull brown warns the impatient lover that his offer is refused. White is chosen for communications relating to weddings and black for obituaries. Violet expresses sympathy. Chocolate marks the invitation to dinner.—Paris Letter.

Glycerin.

Glycerin is one of the most useful and misunderstood of everyday drugs. It must not be applied to the skin undiluted, or it will cause it to become red and hard, but if rubbed well into the skin while wet it has a softening and whitening effect. It will prevent and cure chapped hands and soothe an irritable cough by moistening the dryness of the throat. Applied to shoes, glycerin is a great preservative of the leather and effectually keeps out the water and prevents wet feet.—New York Advertiser.

Religion of the Working Classes.

The world has to have a religion of some kind, and the hope of better food and clothing, more leisure and a greater variety of amusements has become the religion of the working classes.—E. L. Godkin in Forum.

FEEDING THE BABY.

Much is written at the present day about the care and feeding of infants by people whose only capability for dealing with the subject is a fertile brain, and whose only aim is to appear in print; every mother knows how unsatisfactory and fallacious such advice is when she attempts to follow it. How to feed the baby is the greatest problem met with in the happy state of motherhood, and upon its solution depends the health, the happiness and the life of the child. If the mother is able to nurse her child, the question of feeding is practically settled; if she is not, she should be guided by those who have had successful experience in feeding babies and not allow herself to experiment with different foods. There are scores of artificial foods offered for sale, but the best is none too good for the baby. Eminent authorities who have thoroughly investigated the subject of infant feeding, and scientists who have analyzed infant foods, unite in pronouncing Mellin's Food to be the only perfect substitute for mother's milk. It is palatable, nourishing and strengthening; the weakest stomach will retain and digest it, and the puniest child will thrive upon it beyond the mother's fondest expectations.

For convalescents, consumptives, dyspeptics and the aged, Mellin's Food is also of incalculable value. It is a food, not a medicine, and the system receives the nourishment it demands for its daily needs. For those severely ill Mellin's Food will sustain the failing strength and promote a speedy recovery when convalescence has been established.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

SHE NEVER WOULD.

She Knew She Never Would Get Over the Shock of Her Mistake.

She was the most popular girl in the summer hotel, and when two of the others came into her room and found her dissolved in tears they rushed to her with sympathy at once.

"It's your hat! Is it for you?" cried the girl with her hair looped over her ear.

"Charley has gone off on the train!" cried the girl with the penciled brows in a tragic tone.

"No—no—much worse!"

"You surely never lost that lovely hat overboard while you were boating?"

"Or let Jennie get the strange young man seated next her at table?"

"Oh, girls, it's much worse than anything I think I'll go into a convent. Everybody will be talking about it. Promise never to breathe it, and I'll tell you all about it."

"We never will."

"Well, you know that lovely new young man?"

"No, but I mean to."

"Oh, it's about him! Mame and I have been just crazy to know him. His room is just under ours, and we hear him singing in a lovely baritone."

"Well, Fred knows him, and he'll introduce"——

"Never! was this way. I was asking Fred about him, and he told me that he wanted to know me, that he said those little baby curls about my forehead were lovely, so natural. Then we saw him coming, and Fred offered to present him at once."

"Of course you agreed."

"If I only had. But I told Fred that I must speak to one of the girls first. Then I flew up stairs. When I got there, I saw at once that Mame had had one of her trying fits, for I couldn't find what I wanted. You see, my hair was a little out of curl."

"Of course."

"Just then I heard Mame coming, and I said crossly: 'I wish you'd tell me where on earth you've put my curling iron.' There was no reply, so I repeated my query in a still crosser tone."

"Mame is so provoking!"

"Listen.—I think there must be some mistake, said a rather faint, masculine voice. And, girls, there he was standing just inside the door."

"My goodness!"

I just stamped my foot. 'There is a mistake!' I cried. 'You're in the wrong room, and I'll thank you to get out,' and I advanced brush in hand. He fled, and I locked and double locked the door. Then I sank on the floor in a heap and cried. I couldn't forgive him for making such a silly mistake. Suddenly something struck me as strange"——

"You surely hadn't"——

"I just had. In my haste I had missed a flight of stairs and I had driven the man out of his own room. Oh, I'll never get over it if I live to be 100!"—Chicago Tribune.

His Doubt Dispelled.

One afternoon Mr B——'s man of all work came to him and requested to have the evening off to go to a wedding. The request was granted and nothing more was seen of Thomas until the next morning, when he appeared in a decidedly used up condition. One eye was black, his nose jammed in and strips of court plaster adorned his face in every conceivable direction.

For heaven's sake, Thomas," exclaimed Mr B upon catching sight of him, "what have you been up to? I thought I gave you permission to go to a wedding."

"And so you did, sor."

Well, did you go?"

"Shure I went, and when I got to the house I found a felley sitting in the parlor. He was dressed up in some shape wid a long tailed coat and a white necktie. Sez I to him, 'And who may yez be?' Sez he to me, 'Can't yez see, yer Irish Mick?' sez he. 'I'm the best man,' and he was, sor."—Brooklyn Life.

AN "ARGUS" MAN OFF DUTY AIMS AT SEVERAL SUBJECTS.

Wants to Exhibit Her Daughter—Why an Aged Couple Seek Divorce—A Fire Started by a Kick.

An Ulster county woman, the proud mother of a fourteen-year-old girl who weighs 250 pounds, is endeavoring to make arrangements to exhibit her at county fairs, this fall. She is sure that no girl of the same age can be found that will weigh more than her daughter, and is so confident that the girl will prove a great attraction and a drawing card that she demands a good round sum as the price for exhibiting her, or if suitable accommodations are provided will arrange to exhibit her, side show fashion, for ten or twenty cents a sight. The curious thing about all this is the anxiety of the mother to make merchandise of her daughter's superabundance of flesh and blood, and her confidence that the public will pay for the opportunity of seeing a not very unusual physical deformity.

A Mrs. Walker, seventy years of age, is suing in Monroe county for a divorce from her sixty-seven-year-old husband. The complaint and answer disclose a pitiful tale of domestic infelicity which seems to have had its origin in sordid meanness on the part of the husband and pure "cussedness" on the part of the woman, which developed into a settled determination to make his life wretched when her wishes were thwarted. The woman avers in her complaint that her husband, who is in fairly comfortable circumstances, is so penurious that for years he has allowed her no money and that she has had to earn what she spent for clothes. She further alleges that her husband's parsimony so increased as he grew older that he would not provide her with sufficient food, and that last winter he almost starved her, doling out the household supplies with such a niggardaly hand that her physical needs forced her to leave him and take up her residence with a daughter. The husband denies all the allegations of niggardliness and says that for fifteen years his wife has made his home a good imitation of scheol. Although the smell of tobacco is particularly offensive to him his wife persisted in smoking incessantly, and although he fitted up a smoking room for her, she refused to use it and filled the whole house with the vile odors of rank tobacco. She smoked so much that her health became impaired and he had to pay a large doctor's bill to get her fixed up. The doctor advised that her supplies of tobacco be shut off and when he attempted to do so, she became furious and left him. He says further that for years, whenever she was crossed in any way, she would refuse to cook for him or do any household work, but that he didn't mind that as much as he did her inveterate smoking which was the occasion of endless suffering and annoyance to him.

J. V. M., of Wurtsboro, is responsible for the following story, for the truth of which he vouches: A Burnside man named Jackson, a few nights ago, caught one of his neighbors stealing his tomatoes. He seized him by the collar and administered to him several severe kicks. One of the kicks was followed by a sharp crackling sound, a pungent sulphurous smoke filled the air and a moment afterwards the tails of the fellow's coat began to burn. It seems that he was on his way home from the store when he raided the garden, and had just bought several boxes of matches which he had stowed away in the tail pockets of his coat, where the vigorously plied toe of Mr. Jackson's brogan had ignited one of them, which set fire to the others and started a conflagration which utterly ruined the coat and came near giving the tomato thief a bad roasting.

MR. WALLACE'S LECTURE ON CEYLON

A Large Audience Present—Interesting Views and an Instructive Address.

A fair sized audience assembled at the Second Presbyterian Church, last evening, to listen to Wm. W. Wallace's illustrated lecture on Ceylon. The lecture was of a very interesting and instructive nature, a large number of stereopticon views being shown, giving a good idea of life in that heathen country and showing the improvements wrought by the Christian religion. Mr. Wallace, who was for four years an instructor in the Christian schools of Ceylon, is able to convey much information of special interest to those interested in mission work.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

THE SULLIVAN COUNTY COURT.

The Case of Abram Middaugh vs. the O. and W. Commenced but Not Finished—Court Adjourned to Monday.

Judge Fursman opened court Wednesday morning, at Monticello.

An extra panel of fifty jurors was drawn, and they were ordered to report Monday morning.

The first case called for trial was that of Abram Middaugh, as administrator, against the New York, Ontario and Western Railway Company. The plaintiff charged the railroad company with having, on the 26th of October, 1893, killed his son, Seth, a young man thirty-seven years old, by carelessly and negligently running one of their engines over him. The damages claimed were, of course, $5,000.

The defence claimed that the man was deaf and that he came to his death through his own negligence. But two witnesses were examined in this case when, at 11 o'clock, just as the third witness had been called, the judge said, "hold on, I am going to take a recess till 2 o'clock." At 2 o'clock court was reconvened and was adjourned until next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It is understood that the Judge is sick.

Popular prices will prevail during the short engagement of Lillian Kennedy Company.

A Young Wife Abandoned.

Two months ago, Miss Eunice Eager, of Newburgh, against the advice of friends, married Van Allen Whitbeck, of New Windsor. She had $3,000, which her husband "borrowed." He left town, Saturday, leaving his wife sick at a hotel. She has been taken to the house of a friend and does not expect her husband to return.

A WOMAN'S LIFE.

SOME THINGS MEN DON'T CONSIDER

Thousands of Women Suffer Daily for Years without Complaining.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Men cannot know the sensibilities hidden in the delicate organisms of women.

Thousands suffer without knowing why, and die the death daily for want of knowledge that relief is so close at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham will forever stand highest in the love of suffering women.

Because she discovered the cause of woman's weakness and suffering, and found the means to remove it.

Diseases of the Uterus and ovarian troubles are most universal; you can see their ravages in pale faces; it is inicated by halting steps, dizziness, faintness, irritability, melancholy, extreme lassitude, nervousness, sleeplessness, and disturbances of the stomach.

You will hear your friends speak of the dreadful "backache," the crushing sense of "bearing down."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for twenty years has saved women from all this. Hear this woman speak:—

"No man ever suffered a single pang like unto woman.

"Women, therefore, gladly turn to a woman for sympathy, counsel, and help in their peculiar troubles.

"Lydia E. Pinkham deserves the confidences showered upon her by thousands. Her Vegetable Compound has done more for women than any other remedy.

"The great cause of woman's misery is in her womb. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound goes direct to the source of trouble, drives out disease, and cures backache, fainting, despondency, bloating, ovarian troubles, and leucorrhœa.

"I would have been in my grave if I had not taken Mrs Pinkham's medicines."

IN answer to the question frequently asked me, "To whom do you advise me to go for instruction in singing," would say, I know of no one in this section better qualified to teach voice culture than Chas. H. Fuller, and I heartily recommend him to those desiring instruction in the art of singing

INSTRUCTION IN MUSIC

Commencing first week in Sept. The study of voice development involves a far more important fact than correct singing, requiring a correct use of the lungs and throat, on which, in very many cases, one's health depends. The practice of singing correctly is calculated to bring about the healthy action and development of muscles which otherwise would have lain dormant, and the breathing exercises are of incalculable value to those inclined to pulmonary weakness. Write me or call at Middletown Music Store and have time assigned you for a trial lesson, free.
